Introduction

Democracy relies strongly on the active involvement of its citizens, with voting serving as a key means of participation. Yet, many young people today show limited awareness and interest in electoral activities. In response to this issue and to instill a sense of civic duty, the Mock Election '26 and Voting Awareness Initiative was organized.

The event was hosted by the Tamil Academy in collaboration with the Paarivendhar Students Tamil Association at SRM Institute of Science and Technology, Kattankulathur. The initiative aimed to spread awareness among students about the importance of voting, strengthen democratic principles, and encourage them to make well-informed decisions during elections.

Objectives of the Programme

The programme was conducted with the following goals:

- To encourage active participation of students in the electoral process
- To create awareness about the importance of voting in a democratic system
- To build a strong sense of civic responsibility among young individuals
- To provide hands-on experience of how elections are conducted
- To promote informed, responsible, and critical decision-making
- To foster understanding of democratic rights and duties among students

Event Description

The Mock Election '26 was conducted in a systematic manner, carefully designed to mirror the functioning of a real polling process. The programme began with a brief orientation that introduced students to the purpose of the activity and the role of elections in a democratic system.

Students were then guided through the different stages involved in voting, such as registration, identity checking, and ballot casting. The venue was arranged to resemble an actual polling booth, allowing participants to experience the procedure in a realistic setting. Various awareness messages, including slogans promoting voting rights and responsibilities, were displayed throughout the event to reinforce its core message. Interactive discussions were also held, encouraging students to reflect on the importance of youth participation in democracy and their contribution to society.

Overall, the initiative provided an engaging platform that combined learning with experience, helping students gain a clearer understanding of both the electoral process and its significance.

Facilities Provided

The organizers arranged a well-structured venue that closely resembled an actual polling station, ensuring a realistic experience. A smooth and systematic flow was maintained for participants throughout the voting process. Coordinators were present to guide and supervise students at each step. Necessary instructions, awareness materials, and basic amenities were provided to ensure convenience and clarity for all participants.

Participation and Involvement

The event saw active participation from students across various departments. Faculty and staff members also contributed to making the programme successful.

Participants:

- Actively cast their votes in the mock election
- Took part in awareness discussions
- Encouraged others to understand the importance of voting
- Maintained discipline and coordination throughout the event

The enthusiasm shown reflected an increasing awareness of civic responsibilities among students.

Outcome of the Programme

The initiative achieved its intended objectives successfully. Key outcomes include:

- Improved awareness about voting rights
- Better understanding of how elections function
- Increased sense of responsibility among students
- Strong participation from the campus community
- Promotion of informed voting behavior

The programme clearly conveyed that every individual vote plays an important role in shaping the future of the country.

Conclusion

The Mock Election '26, organized by the Tamil Academy along with the Paarivendhar Students Tamil Association, was an insightful and impactful programme. It offered students a chance to understand the electoral process through practical experience, complementing their theoretical knowledge.

The initiative encouraged greater participation and awareness, helping students recognize their role as responsible citizens. Such efforts are essential in promoting democratic values and contributing to the development of a more informed and responsible society.
